G. N. JONES, Business Manager,
St. Louis Post-Dispatch.
Sworn to and subscribed before me, a Notary Public and for the City of St. Louis and State of Missouri, qualified for a term expiring on the 9th day of September, 1885, the 23rd day of September, 1885.

EDWARD BIETTEL,
Notary Public, City of St. Louis, Mo.

vertisers and an examination earnestly invited.

CATCH THE BOODLERS.

The Grand-jury of Sangamon County, Ill., will have a large share of public attention until its final report is made.

It is charged with the investigation of boodling in the State Legislature and the possibility of bringing legislative boodlers to trial will again be put to the test.

The outward indications of boodling were exceptionally strong during the last session of the Legislature. Charges that slush funds were freely used to control legislation were openly made. The lobby conducted its work and exercised its power with scandalous disregard of propriety and public opinion. Accusations of corruption were definitely made against certain members.

If ever an opportunity was presented to make a wholesome exposure of the crime of bribery and to deal out exemplary punishment to the criminals, the Sangamon County authorities seem to have one now. If the Grand-jury cannot find indictments against members of the Legislature, either the investigation will be what too many inquiries of this kind have been, a whitewashing farce, or Illinois legislators have been singularly indiscreet and there has been excessive recklessness in branding them with boodle accusations.

The indictment and conviction of several boodlers would be of incalculable value not alone to Illinois but to all the States. The results of investigations into boodling in State Legislatures have been so insignificant that the impression is prevalent that the crime of bribery in these bodies is safe. The strongest considerations of public welfare urge the Sangamon County jury to a fearless and thorough discharge of its duty.

KEEP THE STREETS IN ORDER.

The protest in the Letters From the People against muddy streets and crossings caused by over-sprinkling is timely.

As the Post-Dispatch pointed out recently, the flooding of the streets is injurious and, therefore, should never be permitted, but at this time it is peculiarly objectionable.

The autumn festivities have begun and for more than a month St. Louis will keep open house. She invites all to come and share in her entertainments and it is becoming that the house be in order. The city will be thronged with visitors, many of whom will see St. Louis for the first time and form lasting impressions.

It is important that from every standpoint these guests should be pleased on the Broadway line was discharged on the complaint of a passenger who had refused to pay his fare. After waiting patiently for some explanation of what appeared to be an act of injustice on the part of the company, the people are making some very natural protests and demanding a reason for the man's perpetual discharge.

The company is not called upon to explain why it discharges an employee in the usual order of business, but this is a case that has come prominently before the public. It appears to involve a principle, and, as will be seen from the letters published elsewhere, an explanation is necessary to allay the indignation which lovers of justice must feel if the facts are as indicated in the statements that have so far been published.

If this conductor merely put in force the rule of the company as to collecting fares as in duty bound, he should not have been discharged. If he only did his duty, courageously, promptly and without any unnecessary violence, he should be reinstated. But if he acted in a black-guardly manner—if he bullied and abused the passenger and acted otherwise in an unseemly and obnoxious way, the action of the company should be final.

That is all the public wants to know.
And that much explanation is in order.

Finding that he stood no chance as a candidate for the United States Senate, Gen.
Simon Bolivar Buckner has ostentatiously withdrawn. He retires, he says, because candidates supposed to be favorable to him are a target for "the opposition."

THE SANCTITY OF LAW.

If sense gives consent, then the 100,000 or more readers of last Sunday's Post-Dispatch have approved of the striking colored cartoon showing how the Sunday law in New York, like all puritanic and sumptuary laws, is administered against the poor man while leaving the rich to break it at their pleasure. Yet there is one dissenting spirit. A correspondent objects to the cartoon as "caricaturizing" the Sunday law. He says: "It is simply infamous," and more than he can stand. He objects to any criticism of Commissioner Roosevelt "in his laudable efforts to maintain the sanctity of the law, and winds up by trusting that the Post-Dispatch may prosper without his support, though he evidently has doubts of it.

The cartoon in question represents the poor man chained down by his poverty to strict observance of the law, while the wealthy individual, at his club, is guzzling all kinds of intoxicants without molestation from the authorities. It is the old case of "one law for the rich, another for the poor." Does our correspondent object because a champion of the people calls attention to this age-long evil of discrimination in favor of Dives against Lazarus? Is he prepared to say that the present state of things should go on, either in New York or elsewhere, as the authorities wink at infractions of the law by rich people while rigidly enforcing it against the poor? If so, his objection to the cartoon is valid.

Engel probably never speeded a parting guest more willingly than when she sent away Shahzada Nasir Khan, son of the Amir of Afghanistan, who has made himself an almost intolerable nuisance throughout his visit. Mr. Bull's ambition, for new territory is always given the Kentucky statesmen.

parting guest more willingly than when
she sent away Shahzada Nasir Khan, son of the Amir of Afghanistan, who
has made himself an almost intolerable
nuisance throughout his visit. Mr. Bull's ambition, for new territory is always
given the Kentucky statesmen.

Hardin did not call Bradley a liar, but simply denounced Bradley's statements as false. Nor did Hardin threaten to attack Bradley physically. Everybody, including the members of his own party, sees clearly that the Republican nominee seriously blundered in retiring from the debatable.

The collapse of the Illinois State Fair tower, with its attendant fatalities, ought to convince builders that mortar made chiefly of sand cannot hold a wall together. Cheap mortar criminals should be as promptly locked up as any other murderer.

St. Louis has the only permanent Exposition and the best afternoon newspaper. As they are passing on their way to the big show, advertisers should stop in and take a look at the Post-Dispatch's circulation book.

It is thought that the Indiana delegation might be turned to McKinley if it were not for his ultra tariff views. But take away Mr. McKinley's ultra tariff views, and what would be left of him?

It would doubtless be impossible for Boss Quay to reform Philadelphia even if he really desired to do so. Of all American asses the Philadelphia taxpayer is perhaps the stupidest.

Campbell expects to bring to the polls the 17,000 Ohio Democrats who did not vote last year. How he is to get them is not perfectly clear. The platform soon be displayed in our stores. That alone is sure to bring in thousands of visitors, for St. Louis can and does supply the whole country round with every imaginable commodity that can be found on the face of the globe.

But those who come to buy usually expect to remain to play. They look forward to "having a good time." And St. Louis does not intend to disappoint them. With its unrivaled Exposition and theaters already open; with its big Fair and its races, its handsome parks and boulevards, its wonderful Union Station and its commodious and comfortable hotels, St. Louis is a fine place to visit now. Yet there is far more in store.

The Veiled Prophet will be here again, more gorgeous than ever, and King Hotu and his Mystic Order of Funny Fellows are making extraordinary efforts to be just as entertaining and funny as they will be expected to be. It will be a mad and merry show, my masters, and whoever misses it will be inclined to kick himself for the rest of the year.

DELIBERATE MISREPRESENTATION.
"Nevertheless and notwithstanding," remarked the local Wall Street organ in response to the Post-Dispatch's exposure of its misrepresentation of Gov. Altgeld.

The Rev. W. H. Wooten, pastor of Trinity Church, has just whopped five roughs. Mr. Wooten is entitled to a free ticket to Dallas.

Gen. Nelson describes the ex-President as a Minerva-headed man. What a pity that Boss Quay should have turned up so unprofitably!

Richard Kernes and Richard Bland are both for freesilver. The Republicans and Democrats of Missouri should both vote right.

The small boy is anxiously waiting to learn whether these cigarettes that are to be given away are intended for minors.

The thousand-year-old Chinese bed on exhibition in New York will doubtless greatly interest the entomologists.

A good appointment always seems to make trouble among the local Republicans.

The water stolen by Chicago millionaires was not for human drinking purposes.

It's a bad year for Turkey and the Chestnut street mosque.

GOOD THINGS.

"Why don't you marry that girl? She is a real pearl!" "Ah, yes, but I don't like the mother of pearl," Flegende Blatter.

Willie: "Was Jones an exhibitor at the horse show?" Wallace: "Yes, in a measure.
He made an ass of himself." Puck.

The Rector: "You don't mean to say you want to do a show on Sunday?" Penelope:
"Yes; but I looked at the St. Bernards only." Sioux City Union.

Eye Spy: "I've got the bulge on my wife, anyway." Footit: "In what way?" Eye Spy: "She can't wear my pants without knocking them off." New York World.

Briefcase: "Miss Keytar, why do you turn your head and dodge at the end of every line?" Miss Keytar: "Whenever that bell rings I always think I'm on my wheel."

She was thrown on the world. "Merciful heaven!" she gasped. Considerable turf was knocked off the world where she struck.
Before anybody could reach her she had risen and was swiftly leading her cycle away. —Town Topics.

"Haw," said the son of Britain. "While you fellows run for office, we in the old country merely stand by. We have more dignity, you know." "Tee," answered the impartial American, "and while our candidates mostly dodge the issue your dodge bricks." Indianapolis Journal.

A Municipal Drama.

From the New York World.

The great army of children unprovided with school rooms is the supreme disgrace of New York, and no possible activity of reform government in depriving citizens of their just liberty can excuse or obscure the action of the company which the neglect to remedy this great and grievous wrong.

Finding that he stood no chance as a candidate for the United States Senate, Gen.

WELL-KNOWN ST. LOUISANS.

Festus J. Wade.

Exposition fever will never be eradicated from St. Louis blood. Fully 15,000 people had their preliminary attack last night and for forty days the fever will be epidemic throughout the city. The opening of the twelfth annual Exposition was auspicious. In the first place, the exhibits were ready. Some of the best drawings were ready, and there was a tremendous attendance.
The usual preliminary speechmaking was had after the King-Nero ceremony. President Boyd spoke of the city's progress and its connection with the Exposition.
He also welcomed back the expositionists.
There was a great compliment. Mayor Walbridge was sickly and picturesque in his remarks. Then the leader's baton waved and the crowd saluted and cheered with and the opening spread of their annual musical feast.

One-third of the crowd could get into the art galleries, basement and nave.
The exhibitors seem to have conceived this year to run opposite to Main Hall and not to be given to be popular. There are novelties all over the building and unique displays are the rule, not the exception. The most interesting exhibit is the navy, which is described in these columns. All who saw it last night were impressed with the catholicity of the display. A commendable exhibit is the meritorious exhibit of local artists.

The Exposition was open at 9 o'clock this morning. The weather was fine, the temperature cool, and the exhibitors present for the afternoon concert, and young Arthur Pryor's friends were out in force to hear the new Kansas two-step.
A slight "Dixie" was heard, and Souvenir music will be full of echoes from the Southland. Between the acts Mr. Ashton, of the Rialto, and the Rialto Buildings, and the Rialto Hotel, will be the prime mover in the erection of the Rialto.

Mr. Wilson, the manager of the Rialto, has a number of dainty singers.

SMOKING MOUNTAINS.

Signs of Volcanic Eruption Shown by Mount Fujiyama.

VANCOUVER, British Columbia, Sept. 5.—By the Empress of China the following advices were received: According to Japanese papers Mount Fujiyama is expected to become an active volcano shortly. Smoke has been emitted freely at late, and the sand in the vicinity is hot enough to cook an egg in a very short time. The locality is known to have been volcanic for years past, but has not been excited. The thermometer registered 92 deg. on the ground, stones being heated to such a degree that they cannot be touched.

The Emperor of Japan has conferred on A. G. Shawes, the British Commissioner at the Sino-Japanese War, the Order of the Sacred Treasure.

On the 21st ult. 827 fresh cases and 498 deaths from cholera were reported in Japan, and 4 cases and 2 deaths in Yokohama.

Cholera is also spreading in Korea. The Japanese Consul at Vladivostock states that cholera of a mild type was broken out there.

It was freely hinted last night that the suit was the outcropping of Charles T. Yerkes, who was against his government.

The suit, however, which the Metropolitan company has forced to defend itself, is nearly unlimited wealth with which to back up its claim. A corporate action, or rechartering order, is proposed for, it is probable that the contest will begin before Judge Showalter on his return next week.

Battle in Prospect for the Control of the New York Delegation.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 4.—A fierce battle is to be fought between David B. Hill and William C. Whitney for the control of the New York delegation to the next Democratic National Convention. It is reported that Croker will use Tammany influence to secure the nomination. Positions here do not deny that both Hill and Whitney are anxious for the Presidency.

BED 1,000 YEARS OLD.

Unique and Once Occupied by the Last Emperor of the Sung Dynasty.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—James Hudson of Washington, D. C., has placed a remarkable Chinese bed on exhibition in a big drug store on Fulton street. The bed is nearly 1,000 years old and was occupied originally by The Sung, the last emperor of the Sung dynasty, who died in 1299. It is 7 feet 6 inches long, 4 feet 10 inches wide and 7 feet 3 inches high. It consists of forty-five square panels joined together like a Chinese puzzle. Not a nail or screw nor fastening of any kind is employed. The panels are of carved teak wood, stained and varnished, and the work is superb. There are 100 figures representing the history of The Sung from the time of Tsin-Tao, their founder, in 960 B. C. to Tung-Ting. The figures are too perfect to express as perfect as if painted by a master. It is worth $11,000.

MISS OLIVER RAN ABSOLUTELY LAST.

And Her Owner, Lew Marion, Ascertained the Reason.

COSTELLO'S QUEER RIDE.

After the Race Miss Oliver Was Worked Out and She Showed What She Could Have Done.

Whether he did it intentionally or unintentionally, Lew Marion, owner and trainer of the filly, Miss Oliver, is convinced that Jockey Costello robbed him of a purse yesterday. Miss Oliver started in the second race at the Fair Grounds against Belle Meade, and Marion thought so well of his filly's chance that he bet $10 on her. Costello got up in a hurry and after getting off bad, he rode his mount in such a shape, that he finished absolutely last, having run sixteen of a mile. The disgraceful showing his filly made, was a staggering disappointment.

Last week Miss Oliver and Belle Meade were entered in the same race, which was split. Miss Oliver ran second in her, and while Belle Meade ran third in hers. The Belle Meade team was run in the lead of a second faster than the Miss Oliver race.

According to this line, the latter had a great start, but to get to the finish she is by Easdown, who of course knew the mud and she had always come at the end of her race, showing that she had a fondness for a distance. But when Oliver's owner Marion enough in her work to make him believe she would run in 1:14 or better yesterday.

Knowing all this, Marion could not explain the mare's performance. He wanted satisfaction and asked permission to work his mount between the third and fourth race, while the judges ruled that the race should be run with Miss Oliver and the latter reeled off four and one-half furlongs in 1:00 flat, and then went to 1:14 to 1:16 for five and one-half furlongs, the distance of the race. Miss Oliver's work satisfied Marion that he had not gotten a ride and the horse was not to blame.

He has gone hard with Costello if Marion had not good naturedly pleaded that another chance be given him. As it was Costello got off with a small fine, and Marion did not like that he will soon put up another such villainous ride as Miss Oliver got from him yesterday.

Chief Harrigan dropped out to the track for a little fresh air Wednesday, and during his walk he met a friend who complained in his hearing about the crooked riding of a certain well-known jockey. After listening to their story, the police chief said: "I am not going to tell them what he heard. The judges conferred that unfortunately there had been considerable kicking about the jockey in reference, and that they had been unable to take some action had not been taken, one of the officials replied: "We do nothing until we have positive proof connecting the boy with some wrongdoing."

"But he is under suspicion, is he not?" inquired the police chief.

"Yes," was the reply of the official.

"Well, I don't know," said Harrigan. "I believe race track judges should do as I would when anybody comes under my suspicion, and that is to put him in jail, so he can keep you guessing no longer."

Jockey McGlone, who is charged with practice kicking around to crook the last race Wednesday, is a product of the Gloucester-Guitengen-Roby racing game. He has done most of his riding at these tracks, and when he should be caught to remember that what may have passed unnoticed there will not go at the Fair Grounds. Chelot was an even money favorite for his two races in that track, and the showing he made Wednesday was enough to justify the judges in taking decided action at once.

Jack Curry, who drives the harness horses belonging to Col. John G. Taylor of St. Louis, was rung up with Jim Patchen in his race against John H. Gentry at Philadelphia Wednesday. Curry's driving was so unsatisfactory that he was taken out of the race, and the result of the ride also gave a raw exhibition with the reins in the last two heats and his driving will be investigated to-day. Gentry won the first two heats, while Patchen captured the last three.

Results at the Tracks.

FAIR.—The winners: May, Belle Meade; Gold Coin, Seneca, Flush.

Track Talk.

The Fair Association reinstated Charla Hueston to ride for W. J. Spillane, Jr., for $1,000. She was riding with Jim Patchen in his race against John H. Gentry at Philadelphia Wednesday. Gentry's driving was so unsatisfactory that he was taken out of the race, and the result of the ride also gave a raw exhibition with the reins in the last two heats and his driving will be investigated to-day.

Pittsburgh has just closed a deal for the return of the champion of the Texas League, its release cost several thousand dollars.

Neville and Atlanta both claim the Southern League championship, but the League President, John C. Miller, calls the pennant race a tie.

The Little Diamond.

A tie game was played Sunday at Maddenville, Ill., between the Willows of St. Louis and the local club of Maddenville. At the end of the eleventh inning the score stood 1-1. The game was called on account of darkness.

The Browns of the Christian Brothers' College wish to hear from some good baseball club for their new addition, and he will join Anson's club at Louisville next week.

Neville and Atlanta both claim the Southern League championship, but the League President, John C. Miller, calls the pennant race a tie.

The Coffey, Jr.'s, would like to hear from any club in the land, but thought Chelot had run second, but the judges failed to place him in the money.

J. M. Jordan, sergeant-at-arms of the Knights of Columbus, is officiating as starter at the Carrollton, Mo., pacing, trotting and running meeting.

Pat Grogan, who trained Ethel Gray for J. D. Morris, was not able to get into as good a mare as Ethel was in her halmy days. Gold Corn won another good race.

M. T. Lariss says the only reason he does not put up first-class jockeys on his horses every time he starts one is because he cannot find them.

Turville was enraged to ride Soundmore at the last minute. He put up a good ride and would have won if he had not got off even with the last two furlongs.

Abe Cahn said last night that he believed the track would be very sticky and holding today, and in consequence he did not ride his mount, Star Linda. She might be mud, but sticky going tears her to pieces.

BOSTON VS. LOUISVILLE.

The Bean-Eaters and the Colonels Are Scrapping Over Collins.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 5.—A misunderstanding has arisen between the Boston and Louisville baseball clubs regarding the removal of Collins, the second baseman of the latter team. Collins was released to Louisville last spring by manager Bill McCloskey, but the condition that would bring him back during the season, he was to come back. Last week, it is said, Manager McCloskey was not satisfied with him and said he need never care, and that Manager Selee would allow Nyce, a player who has been with the New England league, to go to Louisville. McCloskey, however, said to Mr. Lariss, that the Boston manager did not keep any promises, and says he has broken no agreement and will insist on Collins' returning here.

There is a great rivalry existing between Murfreesboro and Belleville. Both cities are proud of their ball clubs and are backing them to a man. Belleville has carried off the championship of Southern Illinois for the past year, while Murfreesboro has had a most glorious record. In the lead and Belleville has grown desperate. The last game of the season between these two clubs is to be played Saturday evening. The game will have been completed with Mr. Von der Ahe for the use of Sportsman's Park on next Sunday. Each of the cities will send their best men to the games. Both sides are anxious on special grounds, and if the friends of both teams in this city will turn out it will be one of the greatest crowds attending a ball game in this city this year.

Ex-Umpire Burnham is now telling why he left his office in the spring. Here is what he said: "You see, I was too good and couldn't last," he declared yesterday.

The magnates make a lot of good talk, but the individual, single-unit, enforcement is a tremendous howl goes up. I have trouble in Boston and Brooklyn, and plenty of it, too. I sent Tommy, Tumblin' Tom, and Benji down to him, and Mr. Manager McCloskey used some offensive language on the coaching lines and I sent him to the door. The magnates make that is to be done, and the only way to do, and that is to be done, and never change a decision. An umpire commands professional respect, but the double-umpire system is the best that could be devised, but the magnates must support the umpires. The magnates make that is to be done, but the kick to kick when they are brought into effect."

When the Baltimore and Cleveland series meet for their last series, which starts in Baltimore next Saturday, there will be fun flying sure enough. These will be battles of the mind, and the players will be seen when such opponents as Patsy Tebeau, Jack O'Connor, Jess Burkett, Ed McLean, Joe Kelley, "Tough" Brodie, "Mugger" Mulligan, and others of the two teams and fighting tooth, jaw, and toe nail for such an honor as the league championship there is bound to be fun and lots of it.

ST. LOUIS ENTERPRISE.

A Gigantic Deal Made by a Leading House of This City.

Special to The Republic.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 31.—To-day was consummated one of the largest merchandise deals which ever took place in this city in recent years. The Columbus, one of Chicago's large department stores, sold out their entire stock of goods, amounting to $145,783.39, to the "Famous" of St. Louis. One of the representatives of the Missouri concern was on the ground and gave a check for $84,545.65, being 58 cents on the dollar. The Columbus has been in business here for some years, but owing to a change in the firm the sale was made.

THE WHOLE STORY

Briefly Told.

What was Chicago's loss is St. Louis' gain. We had an intimation that the lease of The Columbus—one of Chicago's leading department stores—was about to be sold over their heads and that consequently the stock of this first-class house would be on the market. We had our representative on the spot and in almost less time than it takes to tell we purchased The Columbus entire stock at just 58 cents on the dollar. See check. This mammoth purchase startled the mercantile world of Chicago. The usually wide-awake merchants of the Windy City had the rich plums taken from under their very noses, and [while] Chicago's business centers are ringing with the praises of our daring, we offer our patrons bargains such as must be seen to be believed.

Never was a greater business deal consummated. Look at the subjoined prices. Weigh up in your minds everything we say. Bring this paper with you. Point out anything you want and it will be shown you exactly as described. BUT come early. We have extra salesmen to wait on all promptly. Positively no goods sent C.O.D. ■

FACT SIMILE OF THE CHECK WE SENT.
